Electronic institute to be set up

By A Staff Correspondent

The Tokyo-based Asian Electronics Union (AEU) recently endorsed Bangladesh's proposals to set up an Asian Institute for Electronics Technology and also to promote licence agreements and joint venture projects.

The proposals were made by Bangladesh Electronic Manufacturers Association (See page 10 Col. 6)

Manufacturers Association (BEMA) before the recently concluded session of the ninth general assembly of AEU in Tokyo.

A BEMA Press release issued in Dhaka on Wednesday said that the association's proposals to promote sub-contracting from developed to developing countries short courses in developing countries and the exchange of video training materials were also approved by the general assembly.

A five-member committee, including Bangladesh, was formed by the AEU's general assembly to implement in phases the five-point BEMA proposals.

The BEMA submitted the proposals to the AEU to ensure the transfer of electronics manufacturing technology. A five-member BEMA team, led by its Chairman Mr Md. Shamsul Islam, attended the Tokyo meeting.
