Workshop on sea-level rise today

Staff Correspondent

A four-day workshop on "Impacts of Sea Level Rise in South Asian Sea Region due to 'Global Warming'" under the joint sponsorship of Intergovernmental Oceanographic Commission and United Nations Environment Programme will begin at the auditorium of National Museum today (Monday).

President Abdur Rahman Biswas will inaugurate the workshop formally as chief guest while Minister for Environment, Forest, Fisheries and Livestock Abdullah Al Noman will be the special guest.

Delegates from Pakistan, India, Sri Lanka, Nepal and United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation are participating in the workshop.

The workshop will be divided into seven technical sessions where experts will present their research papers.

The workshop will adopt recommendations and finalise the report of Task Team for the South Asian region established in 1987 by IOCUNEP.
