New edition of Business Guide published

The expanded edition of the Business Guide-2000 was published recently, says a Press release.

The 450-page ninth edition of the directory includes information on about three thousand business organisations of the country and is available in almost all the big bookstores in the city and elsewhere.

The Bengali version of the directory also gives in detail the names over one thousand notable importers and exporters of different countries in the world.

Among other things, it highlights the address, telephone number, mode of business, specialisation etc of each business organisation.

This is one of the few business directories available in Bangla.

Interested businessmen, industrialists and professionals have been requested to enlist their organisations' names with the next edition of the directory by June 30 this year.
