JCD factions clash at Jagannath College: 5 hurt

Varsity Correspondent

At least five people were injured following a clash between members of two rival groups of Government backed Jatiyatabadi Chhatra Dal (JCD) at the Jagannath University College on Saturday.

According to witnesses, two rival factions of JCD were locked in clash over establishing control on the college campus at 1.15 p.m. Both groups exchanged several rounds of gunshot and exploded at least 50 hand-made bombs.

Police, deployed earlier near the college, brought the situation under control by lobbing tear gas shells.

None, however, was arrested in this connection.
