✓ New year of primary edn today

New year of primary education is going to be observed in the country from today (Monday), reports UNB.

From now on, the Department of Primary Education will observe "Primary Education's New Year" every year to make the school attractive to the children, said an official handout on Sunday.

This year, the new year will be observed from February 16 to 18 instead of earlier schedule from Feb 15 to 17.

As part of the programme, national flag will be hoisted at every school and national anthem will be played. Managing Committees will distribute new books among the newcomers at the first day of the programme.

The programme include display of education materials and child fair.
