Syllabus For Class-IX

Sir,

Keeping in view the different aims and objectives the National Curriculum and Syllabus Committee has at length published the revised and modified text books for Class-IX and X. Nearly five months' time has already elapsed to make all these books available to the students. With additional subjects like social science, religious studies, agricultural science having a huge contents in all 12 subjects of the science groups, it will be quite impossible for S.S.C. students to prepare their lessons within one and half years. Even it has become quite tough on the part of the teachers to acquaint themselves with the contents of the revised and modified subjects. It is also observed that in general maths, elective maths, physics, chemistry etc. the contents of the H.S.C. level have been incorporated. The same thing applies to all other groups also. At present the text books purchased from the market are of very low quality in printing, paper and binding. The books will be quite useless after a short use and will be a burden for the poor students to purchase again.

Therefore, may we draw the attention of the authority concerned to reconsider the syllabus so that the students can read all the subjects properly within the short span of time lying ahead.

Mrs. Daria Noor Begum, Court
Para, Meherpur.
