Renaming of DU Applied Physics Dept demanded

Students of Applied Physics and Electronics Department of Dhaka University have demanded to change the nomenclature of the department to give it a modern look and colour, reports APB.

They placed their demand in a memorandum signed by the students of the department to the Vice-Chancellor Prof AK Azad Chowdhury on Sunday.

The students pointed out that there were no such departments as Applied Physics and Electronics in the outside world.

When someone goes abroad for higher studies he or she faces problems in adjusting the name of the department.

The students also demanded for opening a new Engineering Faculty in DU.
