Biswas says

Education for all will be ensured

President Abdur Rahman Biswas has said that Bangladesh is committed nationally and internationally to ensure education for all, reports UNB.

"We have to work unitedly to build up an illiteracy-free educated society to face the challenges of the developed world in the next century"; he said in a message on Thursday on the eve of the "International Literacy Day".

Underscoring the importance of the Day, President Biswas said it offers a wide opportunity for creating awareness about education among all the people of the world, particularly in the developing countries like Bangladesh.

"Education is a must for developing a creative and skilled human resource...an educated society is a creative society".

The educated part of a society is always a guiding force for upholding social values and democracy, he said.
