Sylhet Medical College

Sir,

Among the medical colleges of Bangladesh at the moment only Dhaka and Chittagong Medical colleges have been recognised by the British Medical Association. But the performance and academic environment of Sylhet M.A.G. Osmani Medical College is much better than that of Chittagong Medical College. Hence there is no cogent reason why it should not get recognition of the British Medical Association. I, therefore appeal to the Health Ministry to take up the case with the relevant British authorities for recognition of Sylhet Medical College. They may be invited to visit this college and compare its functioning with Chittagong Medical College and decide for themselves, the issue of recognition.

Saleh Ahmed Chowdhury,
Dhaka Cantonment.
