

Mass Literary Council body announced

The government has constituted the "national primary and mass literary council" with the Prime Minister and the Education Minister as the President and the Vice President respectively, an official handout said Monday, says BSS.

The 36-member council includes ministers, members of parliament, high government officials and educationists.

The council will render advice in the formulation of guidelines and policy in the field of primary and non-formal education. It will meet at least twice a year and more if necessary.
