Anti-terrorism human chain in DU tomorrow

General students of Dhaka University will organise an anti-terrorism human chain on Wednesday protesting the deteriorating law and order and demanding immediate arrest and trial of the killers of Nuban Ahmed, reports UNB.

Nuban Ahmed, a lecturer of the Economics Department of the University succumbed to his injuries at Dhaka Medical Collage Hospital on December 26. He was attacked by some unidentified hoodlums at the South Plaza of Sangsad Bhaban on December 17.

The anti-terrorism human chain programme will begin at 10 am around the Arts Faculty.

In a Press release on Monday, the organisers called upon the students, teachers, employees and all conscious people to make the human chain programme a success.

Dhaka University Teachers' Association (DUTA) also urged all teachers to join the programme.
