MBBS student's demand fresh admission test

Another report adds: MBBS students of Rangpur Medical College attended a press briefing at the Local Press Club of the town and formed a human chain in the campus on Saturday demanding fresh admission test following the alleged leakage of admission test question paper. Hundreds of MBBS students of Rangpur Medical College attended the press conference at the local press club of the town on Saturday noon demanding fresh admission test.

They urged the concerned authority to cancel the admission test held on November 17 alleging that the question was leaked out and sold outside on the night before exam.

They also alleged that a strong syndicate including some coaching centers run Jamati Islami backed students wings Islami Chhatra Sibir were involved in leaking out the question paper. They demanded immediate arrest and punishment for those involved in the scam.

The students also formed a human chain in the campus at about 11.00 am demanding the same. Earlier, on Friday morning, the agitating MBBS admission seekers and their guardians held a human chain and chanted slogans in front of the local press club demanding cancellation of the admission test.

The agitating admission seekers complained that the meritorious students have been deprived of what they deserved and they did not get chance in the admission test as the question paper has been leaked out before the exam.

They also pointed out that some students scored 80-90% marks in the test exam that, they termed abnormal.
