1.5 lakh mass literacy squads at work: PM

Prime Minister Shah Azizur Rahman said in Dacca on Saturday that the Government would remove illiteracy from the country by 1985 under the second phase of peaceful Revolution launched by President Ziaur Rahman, reports BSS.

Inaugurating a commemorative stamp on "Revolution—Second Phase—Education" at General Post Office in Dacca on Saturday morning Shah Azizur Rahman said one lakh and 50 thousand mass literacy squads were engaged in imparting functional education to the unlettered people in different parts of the country.

Shah Aziz said the teachers, students, intellectuals, retired Government officials, members of the Union Parishads, and Village Defence Parties were playing a pioneer role to make the programme a success.

The Prime Minister said that postal stamp was the easiest means of projecting a country's national thoughts, education, culture and development to the whole world.

The commemorative stamp on the second phase of the Revolution would augment the success of the mass-literacy programme, he added.

Shah Aziz said countries like

Burma, Sri Lanka, and Japan had achieved tremendous success in removing the curse of illiteracy through movement. In our country, Insha Allah, we shall remove illiteracy within the shortest possible time, he added.

The multi-coloured commemorative stamp on Revolution second phase education of 50 paisa denomination will be available in the important post offices in the country.

Mr. M. Ahsanullah, Secretary, Ministry of Posts, Telegraphs and Telephones and Mr. Mabbubul Haque, Director-General of Post Office also spoke on the occasion.
