Pry teachers assoc team meets PM

Help implement govt's plans in edn sector

Prime Minister Begum Khaleda Zia on Friday said the present government was carrying forward the nation towards prosperity by eradicating illiteracy from the society, reports BSS.

"The teachers can play the role of pathfinders in this noble task of the present democratic government to lead the nation towards its cherished goal," she said when a delegation of the Primary Teachers Association called on her at her Sugandha Office.

The Prime Minister called upon the teachers to help implement the present government's various on-going programmes in the education sector as well as rear up the children befittingly for taking up the future leadership of the country.

She said the government had attached top most priority on the education sector with the highest budgetary allocation to ensure national development.

Begum Zia said the government had already made primary education compulsory and initiated food-for-education programme and free education for the girl students upto
