

DU halls reopen today

By Our DU Correspondent

All the residential halls of Dhaka University will be reopened for the inmates from 9 a. m. today (Thursday) following a 38-days of unscheduled closure.

While, the classes will be resumed tomorrow (Saturday) after a 40-day unscheduled closure.

Dhaka University Syndicate at an emergency meeting on February 25 closed down the university for an indefinite period and asked the residential students to vacate their dormitories by 5 p. m. on the day following a two-hour armed clash between two rival groups of students. The clash resulted in death of student leader Shahidul Islam Chundru, Vice-President of Zahurul Haq Student Union.
