of Bangladesh, said the appointment was very much in keeping with the Dhaka University Order, 1973. The teachers of the university would be able to express their opinions on the appointment if the revival of University Senate remained wide open even after the expiry of the interim period.

He said as a guardian he felt the urge to appeal to the teachers to sink their differences at a time when the students had taken a praiseworthy role unitedly to ensure reopening of the university, and help restore congenial academic atmosphere.
