He said the nation will be deprived of having worthy leaders and farsighted guardians if our students cannot be reared up properly. "It is the responsibility of all of us to create congenial atmosphere on the campus to build the students and worthy and competent for the nation".

He said adding that "the nation will not forgive us if we fail to perform our duty and responsibility."

Expressing deep concern over the increasing terrorist activities on the campus the Energy Minister alleged a vested quarter has been using the innocent students as political weapon to realise their ill-motives, he urged the students not to be used as political tool throwing themselves to ruin.
