

NEWAGE

Retired school teacher hacked to death in Tangail

Our Correspondent · Tangail

A RETIRED primary school teacher was hacked to death in his bedroom at Beltail village under Mirzapur upazila in Tangail early Wednesday.

Local people and police said that unidentified assailants entered the bedroom of the teacher, Abu Sayeed Nur, 70, cutting

Continued on page 2 Col. 1

Retired school teacher

Continued from page 1
corrugated iron sheet wall, chopped him to death and fled away.

No other family member was present at the house as his wife was staying at his nephew's house and his two sons lived in Dhaka, police said.

Local people said that they rushed to the house in the morning when Abu Sayeed's wife cried out seeking his body after coming back home.

The locals informed police.

Mirzapur police officer-in-charge Md Mainuddin said that police recovered the body and sent it to Tangail Medical College Hospital morgue for a post-mortem examination. The body had marks of injury in the head.

He suspected that previous enmity might have caused the killing and no case was lodged with his police station until Wednesday evening.

Victim's nephew Shajahan Miah alleged that the murder took place as a sequel of previous enmity.

He said that miscreants killed his other uncle Moazzem Hossain 15 years ago and dumped the body into a river and the accused people were now on bail.