Govt firm to stop publication of note books

Minister for Education Dr. Abdul Majeed Khan expressed in Dhaka on Monday the government's firm determination to prohibit publication and use of note books particularly at the primary and secondary levels of education, reports BSS.

The use of note books had been eating into the very vitals of the whole education system, the Minister told a function of the Bangladesh Book Publishers and Sellers Association on Monday afternoon.

Dr. Khan said note-oriented education and the tendency to pass the examinations any how-through unfairmeans or manoeuvering if possible, must be eliminated once for all.

The education must be made qualitative and income generating, the Minister said adding otherwise, prospect for national advancement and increasing national production would be a far cry.
