Some activists of Rajshahi Polytechnic Institute unit of Bangladesh Chhatra League, ruling Awami League-backed student organisation, threw the institute principal Farid Uddin Ahmed into the pond on Saturday afternoon as he refused to allow two students, including joint general secretary of the institute unit of BCL Kamal Hossain Sourav, to fill up examination forms for inadequate class attendance.

The incident was recorded in a surveillance camera.

It was seen in the video footage that at least 10 people were taking the principal towards the pond. Some of them were holding his hands while some others were pushing him from behind.

They threw the principal into the pond within seconds and fled the scene.

Later, other students, officials and employees of the institute rescued him.

Principal Farid Uddin filed a case with Chandrima Police Station at night over the incident.
