Independent University, Bangladesh has emerged as Bangladesh's top-ranked private university in the Nature Index institutional rankings, placing fifth overall among Bangladeshi institutions and third among universities countrywide.

The ranking also placed IUB at the top in Bangladesh in the physical sciences category, said a press release on Sunday.

The Nature Index tracks research output published in a selected group of leading international journals in the natural and health sciences, which is developed by Nature Research Intelligence, part of Springer Nature, the global publishing group behind the scientific journal Nature.

The current rankings are based on research outputs published during the 12-month period from February 1, 2025 to January 31, 2026. IUB recorded a Nature Index Share of 0.63 from 4 indexed research articles.

Two of the articles – authored by Jewel Kumar Ghosh, assistant professor in the department of physical sciences and director of the Computational Physics Wing of IUB's Centre for Computational and Data Sciences – are 'scale without conformal symmetry in hydrodynamics' and 'hydrostatic equilibrium in multi-weyl semimetals'.

Ghosh's articles were published in the European Physical Journal C and the Journal of High Energy Physics, respectively. One of the other articles is titled an accurate measurement of the spectral resolution of the JWST near infrared spectrograph, authored by Anowar J Shajib, associate member of IUB's Centre for Astronomy, Space Science and Astrophysics, published in Astronomy and Astrophysics.

IUB vice-chancellor Professor M Tamim said, 'Meaningful scientific research emerges from a sustained academic environment that values curiosity, rigorous inquiry and international collaboration. Over the years, IUB has been steadily strengthening that environment through faculty research, interdisciplinary engagement and global academic partnerships. This recognition reflects the growing maturity of our scientific research ecosystem.'
