DU teachers' token strike

By Our Staff Correspondent

The Dhaka University Teachers Association (DUTA) went on a 'token strike' yesterday (Thursday) to protest the "irregular" appointment of Abdul Mannan as the chairman of the Department of Management. The decision to strike was taken at a meeting of DUTA on August 8.

Although the Vice Chancellor of the university had sent a letter to the DUTA stating that the appointment of Abdul Mannan has been kept in abeyance, the DUTA decided to go on strike to press its demand for the cancellation of the appointment and to appoint Moinul Hasan, a senior teacher of the Management Department, instead.

The meeting in a resolution decided to demand the resignation of the VC if the irregular appointment is not withdrawn by August 14 and added that they would announce further programs of action on the same day.
