

Questionnaire on education policy

Following is the last part of questionnaire on education policy.

Technical and vocational education.

1. Do you think education in different trades through community schools to drop outs after class VIII justified in the preparatory stage?

2. Is gradual arrangement needed for trade education along with general education in all school?

3. Do you think separate course for vocational education in 11th and 12th class in secondary state should exist?

4. Do you think two-year vocational training should be introduced in class XI and class XII in one school in each thana initially which gradually be extended to five schools in each thana?

5. More than one vocational course should exist in class XI and class XII.

6. Should general education also remain in the schools where vocational training is imparted?

7. Should present vocational training institutes limit their course to professional training and impart training according to demands abroad?

8. Necessity of introducing special arrangement to evaluate understandability mental aptitude and success of students after class X instead of present examination system.

9. Students attain ability for admission in different branches of higher education after the publication of higher secondary examination results. In such situation results of H.S.C. examination should be published in minimum time of:

10. Probable cause of student unrest in educational institutions.

a) Lapses in education system.

b) Quick deterioration of education system.

c) Political interference in educational institutions.

d) Other opinion.

HIGHER EDUCATION

Do you think that higher education will be accessible to all students?

If no then should education system suited to the merit of students and needs of the country be selective?

Should the Government take up the responsibility of financing the meritorious students selected for higher students?

4. Do you support the proposal to upgrade the degree course three-year duration in order to better the standard of education system?

5. Is it justified to introduce a 'uniform degree' course by withdrawing the 'honours' system?

6. Is it justified to withdraw the present-day text-book oriented college education system in order to introduce a system wedded to the requirements of the society and the country?

7. Do you support the proposal to introduce night classes for students in the universities to make a synthesis between the education system and working life?

TEACHER TRAINING

1. Do you support a crash programme to train the yet-to-be-trained primary school teachers?

2. Do you support a proposal to entrust some PTIs with the responsibility of such a training programme?

3. Do you support a scheme to upgrade the duration of primary teachers training to 2 years from the present one year?

4. Do you agree with a proposal to introduce a subject like 'teachers training' in the XI and XII classes in view of the possibility of the need for more teachers at the primary level?

5. Do you support a scheme to turn PTI in each district into a training centre for refreshers course for the primary teachers?

6. Do you support a plan to introduce a refreshers course for PTI teachers as one of the regular course studies at the Basic Education Academy?

7. Do you support a programme for in service training of the teachers of the teachers' training colleges to upgrade the standard of education system and inject newer ideas?

8. In the secondary level there are many un-trained teachers. Do you agree to continue 'Long Course' programme to train them up?

9. Is there any need to train college teachers in pre and in-service courses?

10. Is it pragmatic to introduce 3 year-training instead of present 10-month course to better the standard of secondary teachers training?