Teachers urged to groom children properly

13

Education Minister ASHK Sadique urged all, particularly the primary school teachers, to make their sincere effort for grooming children as able citizen, reports UNB.

The minister was addressing as chief guest in a children's gathering held at the Osmani Memorial Hall this (Sunday) morning as part of education campaign.

Primary and Mass Education Department organised the gathering and rally in observance of the National Primary Education Week '97, which began Saturday.

The weeklong campaign has been organised with a call for creating mass awareness about the significance of primary education in national development.

The minister told the function that the government had already taken some steps to upgrade the country's primary education system.

Terming children as future of the nation, he said the child of today would become the leader of tomorrow and advised them to concentrate on their studies utilising the facilities provided by the government.

Earlier, the minister inaugurated a colourful rally at the Osmani Udyan. Hundreds of children from across the country, waving festoons and banners, took part in the rally.

Deputy Minister for Primary and Mass Education Prof. Zinatunnesa Talukder also addressed the gathering and joined in the rally.
