Edn. Ministry officials urged to work with zeal

Prime Minister Shah Azizur Rahman on Thursday urged the officers and employees of the Education Ministry to work with missionary zeal for the success of the second phase of Revolution aiming at the eradication of illiteracy from the country in the next five years, reports BSS.

He was addressing a conference of the officers of the Ministry of Education, Director and Deputy Directors of Public Instruction, District Inspectors of Schools, District Education Officers and Chairmen of Education Boards at the auditorium of the Education Extension and Research Centre.

The Prime Minister expressed his conviction that it was possible to make eradication programme of illiteracy initiated by President Zia a success in five years if all of them worked with the spirit of devotion, dedication and sacrifice. He asked the officials to set up an example in the interest of the nation by working for the success of the comprehensive programme chalked out by the Education Ministry in this direction. He held out the assurance that the government would extend all co-operation and assistance to officials of the Education Ministry in the execution of the programmes of the revolution.

Kazi Fazlul Rahman, Secretary, Ministry of Education, presided over the conference which was also attended by Dr. A.M. Sharfuddin, Additional Secretary, and Dr. Md. Selim, Education Adviser.

The conference discussed measures for proper education of the comprehensive program guide, implement and coordinate the programmes of the measures to make the second phase of revolution a success. Meanwhile, the Education Ministry has taken necessary steps for setting up of a special cell in this connection.
