campus violence was reduced following the teachers' movement against campus violence although a few number of armed outsider hoodlums were found in different students dormitories of the university, it opined.

The DUTA said that the teachers' were conscious about the students problems because of the teachers' work abstention programme.

The DUTA reiterate its demand to the government for taking necessary steps to eradicate campus violence, immediately. The teachers' expressed concern over the campus situation and it will hold a meeting to announce its next programme of action on November 23.
