Reward system for contribution to mass literacy

The National Council on Mass Literacy on Thursday directed the Ministry of Education to devise a system of rewarding those who have been making 'valuable contributions' to the success of the mass literacy programme, reports BSS.

The Council meeting, held under the chairmanship of President Abdus Sattar at Bangabhaban, emphasised the need for intensifying the motivational efforts through greater participation of voluntary organisations, teachers and peoples' representatives in the programme.

The meeting, attended by Vice-President, Dr M.N. Huda and Prime Minister Shah Azizur Rahman, also reviewed the progress of implementation of the mass literacy programme.
