Edn programme opens at Gonoshasthaya

By A Staff Reporter

Managing Director of Gonoshasthaya Pharmaceuticals GP Matlub Anam on November 22 opened an educational programme for its employees with the encouragement from the Chairman of the Organisation Dr. Zafarullah Chowdhury.

Gonoshasthaya has taken this programme with the aim to increase the percentage of formally educated people in this country. It widely encouraged its employees to get admitted to the Open University. Teaching classes under the said educational programme will be held everyday from 3 to 5 pm inside the factory which will be participated by the employees of GP who have already taken admission into the Open University.

All managers and officials have already expressed their desire to teach employees free of charge with a view to making the programme a success.

Gonoshasthaya Pharmaceuticals emerged in 1980 with some social commitments. Its aim was not only to produce and distribute quality medicines at reasonable price but also to provide social service to the people.

Educational Programme for its employees was one of the projects taken by GP for the welfare of the people.

The employees who have not taken admission yet in the Open University, are showing keen interest towards education the press Release said.
