Sir,

Bangladesh is accepting foreign aid from different countries and agencies for various purposes. If we explore the possibility of foreign aid for the construction of some two hundred high schools and a few more colleges in Dhaka and for the extension of the existing ones wherever possible such aid will go a long way in solving an acute and vital problem of the city dwellers. In rural areas the problem is not that acute and hence school admission is not very tough. I, therefore, draw the attention of our planners and policy makers to this urgent problem of Dhaka city to do something positive in this regard without further loss of time.

Mrs. Momtaz Saleh, Dhaka
Cantonment.
