CU classes resume early next month

CU Correspondent

CHITTAGONG, Aug 21:—The Chittagong University is likely to resume early next month.

Following a bloody clash between two rival groups of Bangladesh Chhatra League that left 20 persons injured, the authority closed CU sine die.

Sources said resumption of classes may cause another round of agitation if the authorities do not withdraw the decision on campus bus service. The authority of Chittagong University suspended all its buses that used to ply between the university rail station and different faculties of the university.

On the other hand, no classes were held in Chittagong University from August 1 due to a month-long vacation.
