Ekushey book fair draws huge crowds

Ekushey book fair on its 25th day witnessed a rush of huge visitors, reports BSS.

The visitors evinced keen interest in 59 new books that hit the stalls on the day, according to the Academy Public Relations Office.

Like other days, people of all ages converged on the fair premises amidst fool-proof security measures.

Strict security measures have been taken inside the fair and adjoining areas. Law-enforcers including RAB members and policemen, were seen on guard at the entrance of the book fair.

The law enforcers searched bags and bodies of the visitors at the entrance and kept constant vigil on different points to avert any untoward incident.

The new arrivals include 15 on poems, 10 on novels, six on juvenile literature, five on rhymes, four on prose, four on essays, two on the Liberation War, two on Biographies, two on religion, two on translation, one on research, one on trailing, one on history and four on other types.

A number of publishers told BSS that they were happy as sales picked up.

Arief Rahman Nayeem of Ojjhaya's publishing house said that sales are increasing each day.

Ahmed Publishing House's Mejbah Uddin Pasha said sales were satisfactory.
