Pry scholarship exam to be replaced by new system

The annual primary school scholarship examination will be replaced by a new system of school final of all students of class five across the country in December every year. State Minister for Primary and Mass Education Motahar Hossain stated this to reporters at his ministry on Monday, reports UNB.

He said now 40 percent students are selected for the primary scholarship examination but now they are thinking about the new system where all students of class five will have to appear in the nationwide examination on the same question paper to qualify for admission to class six.

The State Minister said the students who will perform better will be rewarded. "Teachers will also be rewarded if their schools make good results in the nationwide exam, and action will be taken against that schools that will perform bad," he said.

Motahar Hossain said the new system was discussed with leaders of teachers association and Thana Education Officer and District Primary Education Officer who endorsed the view.

Motahar said a summary of the new system will be placed before the Cabinet soon for approval.
