

KU online application process to start today

Staff Correspondent . Khulna

THE online application process for the first year honours courses at Khulna University under 2015-16 academic year would begin today and continue till October 30, said a KU press release.

The admission tests would be held in December 11-12 on KU campus, the release said.

The decisions came from a general meeting of KU admission tests committee on Wednesday, chaired by the university vice-chancellor, Md Fayequzzaman.

KU treasurer, registrar, deans of all the faculties, and heads of all departments were present at the meeting, among others.

Two new departments—human resource management and journalism and mass communication—would be introduced from 2015-16 session, the release said.

Admission seekers might visit the university website at www.ku.ac.bd for more information, the release added.