Norwegian teachers meet President

President Dr Iajuddin Ahmed on Sunday said Bangladesh and Norway could exchange teachers of school, college and university levels for developing quality of education, reports UNB.

"This will also help coming closer of both the countries ensuring better cooperation in the filed of education," he remarked when a 12-member delegation representing different educational institutions of Norway made a courtesy call on him at Bangabhaban on Sunday.

Anne Marie Bachen of Norway led the delegation accompanied by Prof Syed Mouzurul Islam of the Department of English of Dhaka University.

Welcoming members of the delegation to Bangladesh, the President said at the present age of globalisation the students should learn more and exchange ideas with students across the world.

Educational linkage programme would widen their mental horizons, he observed.

The members of the delegation apprised the President of their weeklong programme in Bangladesh saying that they are quite impressed to see the well-arranged educational institutions, particularly primary and higher educational institutions.

"The students are enthusiastic and eager to build up their career in a decent way," the delegation observed. The Norwegian academics appreciated Bangladesh's rich cultural heritage and warm hospitality of the people.
