

Pvt medical colleges taking students past deadline to be punished

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The health ministry will take legal action against private medical colleges that are admitting students violating the government deadline.

Registration of students who were admitted after February 15 will be considered illegal, said a health ministry press release yesterday.

A number of colleges are continuing to advertise in newspapers for admission of students even though the government mandated private medical colleges not to admit students after February 15, said the statement.