Teachers training course at NU concludes

National University Vice-Chancellor Prof. Dr. Wakil Ahmed has said the university is entrusted with the responsibility of providing higher education to 80 per cent students of the country. The quality of higher education of this huge number of students depends on the vast knowledge that the college teachers should have and its proper dissemination to the students. He said, training plays the most vital role to enrich knowledge of the teachers for quality education, says a Press release.

The Vice-Chancellor said, National University continued its training programme for college teachers despite acute fund constraint and several problems for ensuring quality of higher education.

Prof. Dr. Wakil Ahmed was speaking at the concluding and certificate giving ceremony of the 65th college teachers training course organised by the university on Thursday. Dean Prof. Sher Mohammad chaired the function which was addressed among others by Pro-Vice-Chancellor Prof. Dr. Jamal Uddin Ahmed and Prof. Dr. Syed Rashidul Hasan, course advisors Prof. Dr. Obaidul Islam and Prof. Azizunnahar Islam and two representatives from the trainees.

Later Dr. Wakil Ahmed distributed certificates and academic books among the participants. 17 teachers of Physics department and 27 of Philosophy department from various colleges of the country took part in the month long training course.
