

NSU soft fair begins today

The annual soft fair, organised by North South University Computer Club begins today (Thursday) at the Bashundhara City.

It is the most significant annual event organised by the Club. The aim of the fair is to promote awareness of the latest developments in the IT Sector within the youth of our country. This is done by creating a melting pot for IT companies Universities and other institutes related to IT. The first NSU soft fair, being the first IT fair ever to be organised in Bangladesh, has grown to be one of the major IT fair in the country and the biggest one to be organised by students.

This year NSUCC is celebrating the 7th anniversary of the soft fair, the 7th Soft Fair 2006. It will exhibit the latest and exclusive hardware and software developed by the leading IT companies professionals and students of Bangladesh. There will be separate awards for the best corporate and students shall to encourage participants.

Many leading software, hardware and telecommunication firms will attend the event. Through the event will try to bridge a gap between the corporate sector and the students of our country and help our country move over to a brighter future. The fair is best described as "Entrance to meet the forthcoming technology."
