Rangpur Polytech Instt closed sine die

Our Correspondent

RANGPUR, Dec. 7.—Rangpur Polytechnic Institute has been closed sine die and the authorities asked all students to vacate the hostels by 5 p.m. on Monday.

The authorities closed the college following the violence created a by a group of students who damaged the institute building and some residences inside the college premises yesterday blasting crackers and peltting stones protesting the results of the fifth semester examinations of the college. A number of college staff and wife of a teacher were injured in the violence by the unruly students.
