

Call to make education system effective

Education Minister Anisul Islam Mahmud on Sunday said the discussion on 1973 University Ordinance was necessary under the present perspective of the education system reports BSS.

According to an official handout, the Minister was addressing the triennial representatives conference of Dhaka Metropolitan Teachers organised by Bangladesh Teachers Association in Dhaka.

The Education Minister said the aim of the 73 Ordinance to improve the quality of the education could not be fulfilled. He said complexity like session jam, postponement of examination and unrest had been created in the university premises. He emphasised the elaborate discussion on the amendment of the ordinance, keeping the autonomy in the academic sector.

The Education Minister said the government had sanctioned Taka 100 crore in the development and revenue sectors of the universities despite the resource constraints, so it was duty of the concerned people to make the education system more effective.

The conference was addressed, among others, by President of the association Sheikh Abdullah. The Education Secretary Mr. Hedayet Ahmed also attended the conference.
