Lalkuthi's Library

Sir,

One of the oldest libraries in old Dhaka is North Brook Hall library. It was established on river Buriganga near Farashgan Road in 1874 when the Governor General of India Lord Northbrook came to Dhaka. To commemorate his visit this library was named after his name. Currently it is housed in the east-south corner of the main building.

Today the library has a small collection. But a huge number of readers come here to read books. So there is a need for procuring books for the library. Necessary co-operation of the commissioner of ward no 79 in this matter is solicited.
