

Amtali school building may collapse

From Our Correspondent

BARGUNA, July 9:—The science building of Amtali AK Pilot High School is now in a pitiable condition and it may collapse at any moment.

The building was constructed in 1967. Since then the building has not been repaired causing heavy damages to it. The Local Government and Engineering Department declared the building unfit for use in 1995.

The teachers and guardians of the students urged upon the authorities concerned to repair the building on emergency basis to avoid recurrence of another incident like Jagannath Hall tragedy
