

DU students call for strike today

Different student organisations have called for strike in Dhaka University today (Sunday) to protest the Syndicate decision regarding inquiry into the attack on girl students procession, reports UNB.

The combine of nine student organisations, Chhatra League (H-A), Pro-CPB Chhatra Union and Jatiya Chhatra Dal have given the strike call, also demanding immediate trial of the attackers.

The DU Syndicate on July 23 urged the government to form a judicial inquiry committee to probe the incident that took place on February 9 last year.

The strike callers condemned the authorities decision inviting government interference, saying it was meant to save a particular organisation.
